“ Christmas Eve and I'm thinking of you and the delight you took in Christmas, in the stocking made for you, in the gifts we gave each other. The Christmas movies you wanted to watch and then would fall asleep 5 minutes in. I miss all of that, and I'm so glad we had the time together that we did.
I love you Mama, and I'm at peace.

“ *Thank you for being you, Mama.
Your laugh, your smile and the way you said my name are ingrained into my memory. There are not enough words to describe how grateful I am to you. Thank you, Mama. Thank you for loving so purely. Thank you for sharing your brilliant mind.
I hope you are smelling all the flowers.
I miss you. I LOVE you.*

“ Sending sympathy and love to all, in the loss of your sweet Momma <3
Honestly.....what I remember most, was how beautiful she was, and how sexy! I was astonished that she was the Mom of all these kids!
Wonderful lady...inside and out <3

“ Thank you Mama:
For always lifting me up
For showing me how strong I can be
For being nerdy and bookish with me
For sharing your love of Science-fiction
For baking bread with me
For letting me look through ALL your books
For watching endless loops of Show Boat and Real Genius with me
For loving me and my children
For being a brilliant role-model

All that you did, and all that you are, and all that you gave will live on.

I love you,

“ Oh mama,

I miss you so much. You were always my inspiration and my role model for life. The lessons you taught me were invaluable. You always encouraged me be proud of myself. You believed in me, you supported me, and allowed me to be me, which we both I did not always make the best decisions, but you were there for me no matter what. You taught me how to learn from my mistakes with love and tough love. I have so many memories that flood my mind and my heart. Remember when we built the ranch from scratch and you found a snake in the stall and climbed the ladder in the middle of 5 acres and would not come down until some one killed it. That same mother climbed a chain link fence and was going to beat up a neighbor because she thought he put a hand on one of her children. You were so fierce and I loved that. You always took me out for a bannana split on my birthday just you and me, then you would make me a Bannana Pie because I didnt like cake. You taught me to love the art of cooking, you would let me stand on a chair and help you stir the pot and season the sauce when i was less than 5. I believed you could do anything, because you were so smart and i mean really smart, strong and independent. So many memories. You molded and shaped who i am today, and I'm okay. Love you mama with all my being.....

“ *Mama,
I am the luckiest daughter in the world to have had the honor, fun, love, and laughter of caring for you these past two and a half years. You loved us all unconditionally; you cared about the squirrels in the backyard, the birds, the butterflies, the kittens outside, and the state of the world and everyone in it.
Your strength and determination throughout your life set the bar for all of us and gave us the knowledge that we could beat anything that came our way because we had seen you do it over and over. Your razor-sharp sense of curiosity and wonder filled me with delight and appreciation every day, and your love of puns, jokes, and silliness made every conversation an adventure.
I miss you, and I love you, and I know you are with your family now, eternally young, joyous, and healthy.
I feel your love and presence all around me. Thank you for the gift of you.
I promise to honor you every day by being the best that I can be.
All my love forever, to my "Famous American Girl."*
