“ I remember working shifts at a restaurant with April. She and I would replace lyrics to Korn's "Make Me Bad" with our own funny creations. We laughed so hard and it really helped get us through the stresses of waiting tables. This was in 2002-2003. Many years later, in 2015, I ran into April at her work. Surprised to see one another, we quickly caught up, laughing and reciting memories she and I shared in the past. Before we parted ways, she reminded me of our inside joke (singing our version of Korn's song during work). She started to sing it, and a huge grin covered both our faces. We laughed. We hugged and parted ways. Sadly, I stumbled upon the news of her passing, today, while researching her on social media. She was always willing to help others. She will be missed. Condolences to her family and loved ones. Warm wishes, Gerry C.
