“ Sympathy and prayers for Carl's family. I worked with Carl at GE Daytona and LMC Orlando in the Marine Controls business, (Ships). He was an expert in his field and could always be counted on. I used to go shoot with Carl at lunchtime to the old Strickland Range. We shared a lot of conversations about shooting sports. He was very free with his extensive knowledgable of firearms and I was always appreciative of that. My memory of Carl is that he was an all round Good Guy.

“ I first met Carl when we worked together at a restaurant in Millersburg, Ohio when he was but a teenager. Later we were blessed to have him for our Son In Law.

In 1996 we relocated to Port Orange Florida. As soon as we arrived Carl took over unloading our truck, he was very protective of us and refused to allow us to help. Many times he would change the oil in our car, he would say, "no need to pay to have it done when I can do it". He was a generous person always trying to help others.

Another memory I have of him would be all the families he adopted to buy gifts for during the Christmas season. I think one year he started out buying for one child, when it was over he ended up buying gifts for 25 children/families. These gifts weren't cheap, he bought expensive gifts. Carl couldn't stand to see a child longing for a new toy.

But the greatest blessing is knowing Carl was a born again Christian. We will see you again one day. Rest In Peace young man, we weren't ready for you to leave but God knows best. He is protecting you from the things that are coming upon this earth in these last days.

Cindy, Ryan and Cody you are in our prayers along with all his loved ones.

“ I have a lot of great memories but 2 of the best are the birth of our 2 boys, Ryan and Cody. Carl was a dedicated and loving father. He went to pretty much every extra curricular function that either of the boys had (and believe me, there were a lot). The boys loved him so very much... When they were small, he would come through the door after work with a big smile on his face anxious to see how their day was. He would come in and bend down and they would run to him and give him a hug. They would say "I love you daddy", and then ask him if he had brought them home any toys, because he loved to spoil them and would often bring them gifts 😊

Another great memory was when we lived just outside of Daytona, and he had been invited to a race at the speedway. He left the house to go meet his friends but returned a short while later with flower plants that he had purchased at home Depot. When I asked him why he didn't go to the race he said he would rather spend time planting flowers with the boys.

Carl was one of the kindest, most generous people I've ever known. I was so very happy for him when he married Cindy. I believe God brought them together so Carl could experience true love for the time he had remaining here on earth. Cindy told Carl she wouldn't allow him to die in a hospital, and true to her word she took care of him at home and was with him when he passed.

Last night Carl started a new journey, and today heaven is celebrating his arrival, and when our time comes, he'll be there to welcome us. Rest easy, Carl, you're pain and suffering are over. Our hearts are heavy with sadness but we're happy that you're with Jesus, and the many friends and loved ones who were there to welcome you when you arrived.

“ Sincere and deepest Condolences to you Cindy and your immediate family members as you endure again another time of sorrow in experiencing death's sting with someone you have cherished and loved and held in high esteem for over this short period of time of friendship and marriage..As I personally get older in my years I have seen much in this area of issues and heartaches that people have to endure in this Journey with the Lord, any many times I have NO understandings as to WHY things as this happen.and this is one of those times again...Continued Blessings as you cope, adjust and allow HIS presence and HIS love to overcome round #2 in experiencing another sacrifice of an earthly love and affection and soulmate taken much to soon in my opinion but knowing the HE is in CONTROL in ALL things, to include death's sting..Respectfully and IN HIS LOVE, Brent and Cathi Schultz
