“My brother Carlos, this one really hurts bro. I'm still in disbelief right now. Just the other day I was looking at some old pictures of us and the fellas hanging out on 41st and 4th Avenue back in the day. I'm honored that we got to meet and become family since our late teens. It's a shame that we never got to see each other again after we unexpectedly ran into each other here in Orlando. I've tried numerous times to reach you so that we can catch up like old times but you were always busy. Wish I could've been there for you my brother. I will always remember and cherish the great times and memories we shared growing up and hanging out back home in Brooklyn. And to think we were so close out here in Orlando (about 15 minutes) but yet so far away. To Carlos' family and children....my deepest and sincere condolences and respects go out to all of you. My thoughts and prayers are with you all. To Lisa and Joey.....I'm so sorry for your loss. Carlos has always been a great friend and brother to a lot of us who was also always proud of his children. I will also always remember and cherish the times that I shared with you (Lisa and Joey) as well as your mom (R.I.P.), your aunt Norma and cousin obi. If there's anyway for us to communicate, please ask one of the guys for my contact information. Rest easy Carlos, you're at peace now. God bless you always, love you my brother!!!

“ My deepest condolences to his family. Carlos is my brother and some of the fondest memorize of my child hood he was a part of. Carlos was one of kind a loyal friend the type of friend that would give the shirt off his back in freezing cold for you if you needed. As we got older and life started happening unfortunately are paths got divided But Carlos was and will always be my brother and that's why when we got to speak just a few weeks ago after like 20 years we didn't skip A beat. I want his children to know the first thing he told me about was how proud he is of his children. Till are paths cross again Carlos!!!

*Rest in PEACE my BROTHER

“ My dear best friend, we spend our whole childhood together, thereafter our adulthood. I remember our times of playing sports, specifically baseball and basketball. We also went to the movie theater many times. We grew together and for this, I will cherish you in my heart forever. I was lucky to find you after many years, and the little we spend afterward I will have in my heart.
