“ I close my eyes and see your beautiful smile. For a moment I grieve the loss of your wonderful presence. Then, I am reminded your at peace and without pain which brings me happiness. Despite your fear over the past years, you persevered and shown us all what true bravery, strength and determination looks like. While fighting a battle of your own, you encouraged myself and others to pursue our dreams, see the good in others and to look at the bright side of things. My fondest memory of you will always be your contagious laughter. Until we meet again Grandma, love you <3

“ My mother raised us in church growing up my dad was the Sunday school bus driver and my mom was the head counter on the route as well as a Sunday school teacher. I remember she would always knock on the doors if a child was missing that morning to go to church. She was loving and caring person. Was always there when you needed someone to listen. When she got diagnosed with breast cancer it was hard but she never showed her pain never complained and still would go out of her way to make people happy and to remember to enjoy life. I love you mom and I will always remember the good times we had.
