

Mary Marshall Crowley

October 12, 1941 - November 13, 2020

Mary Marshall Crowley, 79, passed on November 13, 2020 at her family home in Orlando, Florida.

She was born in Pawhuska, Oklahoma, on October 12, 1941. She was known to family and friends as MawMaw.

She was preceded in death by her parents Ernest Henry & Gladys Pearl Marshall, her former spouse James E. Crowley, and siblings Harry (Patty) Marshall, Hazel (Harold) Bates, Leta (Tom) Perrigo, Helen Hilliard, Herman Marshall, and Bonnie Marshall.

She is survived by her siblings; Harley Marshall, Peggy Hothem, Hope Holt, Linda (Ralph) Riner and her five children; Tinna Crowley, Jimmy (Lynn) Crowley, Joe (Kimberly) Crowley, Donna (David) Scott, and Tammy Crowley. Her grandchildren; Tiffany Fletcher, Adam (Amanda) Davis, Matthew Celebre, Jessica Scott, and Melody Scott. Her great grandchildren; Wyatt Fletcher, Evan Davis, Zane Davis, Parker Davis, and many nieces and nephews.

Mom was born on the Osage Nation Reservation in Oklahoma. Her family moved to east Tennessee when she was young, where they operated a Garden/Flower Center in the peaceful mountains of Kingsport. There she learned the importance of planting flowers for the bees and planting a food garden to feed the family. She is not known for how many trees she planted at every property she ever lived at - most will only know that she decorated cakes and worked in a bakery - but because of mom they now all currently have massive trees for shade during the hot summers, swings for her grandchildren, and of course clean the air we all breathe.

But Mother Nature & her Native American mixed family knew these things to be of such importance and for this we will forever be grateful for her incarnation on this earth.

Forever she will be in our hearts and truly missed.
