

Phillip "Phil" Williams Odham

September 11, 1950 - February 9, 2016

Phil Odham, age 65 of Winter Park, Florida passed away February 9, 2016. Phil was born in Sanford, Florida on September 11, 1950. Phil, was the first President of UCF student body, After, a few years in college, he recognized his learning style was not suited by structured education. He was very creative and his thirst for knowledge was infinite. As an entrepreneur, he co-founded Panimation, a company at the frontier of digital software. The highlight of his career was being recognized on stage, by Steve Jobs of Apple Computer, for his group's software development. He was commissioned to write two books for the Digital Software Industry. Phil will be remembered by his family and friends for his intelligence, wit, love and loyalty.

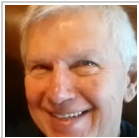

Phil Odham will be laid to rest at Lakeview Cemetery in Sanford, Florida.

“ Phil was a friend from Evans High School and I’ve just learned of his passing six years ago. He was such a fun person to be around, especially after a few drinks when conversations could meander from the theory of relativity to existentialism to wonders about a time/space continuum. Most often It all went over my head, but it was so interesting to experience that stream of conscienceness. I understand he continued that intellectual prowess throughout a successful career in the digital world, for which I’m pleased and not at all surprised. God bless you Phil, as you continue your adventures in another, far better dimension.

“ Phil and I became fast friends upon meeting at the Seminole County Library check-out desk. I think it was 2008. He joined our small Saturday morning breakfast group in Altamonte Springs. I would usually pick him up on the way and we became good friends over the years. I can’t begin to estimate how many cups of coffee we had together with him extolling the wisdom of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the benefits of holistic medicine and the different projects he was pursuing. His knowledge of philosophy and science was amazing and he would often bring books to lend to the rest of us. After his move to Winter Park I saw him less and less and finally, with his illness, not at all for many months before his passing. So I’ve been missing him and will continue to miss him as long as I live.

“ Phil, we will miss you, but we are blessed with the memories and love we share. On this journey you must go alone, but we all have the blessed assurance we will meet again on the other side. So glad you're no longer suffering and your body is made perfect. You suffered so long with excruciating pain and never complained. You just kept saying "I am fine". Love, Babs

“ Phil was a classmate of mine at Evans High School. He was always a class guy. Friendly, smart and nice to be around. The Lord called him to soon!

“ There are way to many memories to share on here. My deepest regret is that I've been meaning to get in touch with Phil for a long time. I had a dream about him on (I believe) the day (night) he passed and woke up with the intention of trying to find a phone number. I never did. Rich Walker

“ Phil, you are still my spiritual hero, you always had such strength and courage. You fought a courageous difficult battle with grace and dignity. I am glad your mind was so sharp and clear to the end of this journey so you could make your own decisions. Thanks for letting me walk these final steps with you. Love you. Sue
