“ I was at a point of wanting to leave work when you started. You made everyday at work better. By hearing you sing, watching you dance, listening to you yell at people to calm down, it's just way to quiet now. You were always there always a good friend. I will never forget you. I hope you and your soul are finally resting easy.

“ I worked with Ray for a few years. Always a riot to work with. The day was always fun with the singing and yelling. Surprised we didn't get in trouble more. I bought him the flag in this picture when the bucs won the super bowl and he ran around the back room waving it. Glad he got to see his team win again. Gonna miss you big Ray

“ When My son passed in 2014 Big Ray led the charge for me. He was always Joey's best friend, and then became mine. He would be there for any person in the world that needed a hand. He told me several times that We were his 2nd parents and that assured me as my oldest was gone. Would have been very proud to have him as my own son, As Raymond and Sue sure are. You will be missed my friend by many people and by me immensely. I could literally type all night but will leave it at this. Mr. Donohue I have been through this before and if you would like to have lunch or just talk.....Just let me know....I will be there for you and your wife as best I can.....Wow....who ever thought this day would come so soon???? RIP Ray and I love you.

“ You were something for everyone, Ray. A protector. A giver. A problem solver. Your heart is as pure as they come. For anyone in need, you were there to provide resources. You stood up for the things and people you believed in. Always rooting for the underdog in life or sports- except never against your Bucs or Gators. You have impacted more lives than any one of us can quantify. To lose a life like that is unfathomable and will leave a scar on us all.

I love you Polar Bear- always, still. I wouldn't be where I am today if not for you. I will try to be my best and make you proud. Alexis, Jaxon and Tessa are lucky to have had you as a father figure in their life, teaching them respect and showing them love and laughter. Thank you for some wonderful times, as your friend and lover. I will cherish them always.

Rest Easy and keep us safe. I got your message- I LUV U TOO!!
