“ I had the pleasure of calling her "Mom" for 44 years. Even more, I had the PRIVILEGE to learn so much from her. I guess sometimes we do not realize how much we are like our parents, until we ourselves become parents. I miss my mom immensely, yet I know with all certainty that I will see her again. She rests and awaits her resurrection.

I miss her so much! I miss her amazing cooking and her funny jokes, her smile. I has been 4 years and it still feels like it was yesterday. There is so much to tell her, but I am glad she wasn't here to see her only beautiful son pass away. It would have broken her in a million pieces. I am still barely hanging on. However, I am truly happy that we share the belief that we will see them both again soon and I can't wait.
