“ I first met Steve in 1985 at his small shop in Forest City Florida that all his friends referred to as "The non-alcoholic Cheers", because it was a place where everyone knew your name. Steve was a true gentleman, a friend, a father and a husband. He was the most generous business person I ever knew as evidenced by the fact he did not have a large business simply because people were more important to him than the accumulation of wealth. He would help out others even at the cost of making a profit for his 'U.S. Surplus Sales'.

It sounds like a cliché in today's world where even the most notorious anti- social people are described as " caring, kind and good", but when I use those words to describe Steve Pocius, they ARE true and accurate, not just a platitude. Thanks for being a good man, father, husband and, to me, a friend all these years.
