“ I have known Tammy since 2012. we met waiting in line to get our photos with James Marsters. ever since we have been very close. I loved her dearly and I still cant wrap my head around the fact that shes gone. I keep wanting to pick up my phone and text her. she was an amazing person and I couldn't have asked for a better friend. I pray she looks down at us from heaven and feels the love we have for her. that she laughs when we laugh and smirks when we do something stupid. I miss you Tammy. to her family, I send all my love and know im here if you need me for something, always.

“ I am going to miss my talks with Tambra and hearing about her comic con adventures. I always loved hearing about her conventions and seeing the photos she had taken with her favorite TV stars - Ian Somerhalder from Vampire Diaries and Alexander Scarsgard from True Blood. She would light up whenever she talked about seeing them and just how nice they were. I am so thankful to have shared this time with Tambra.

My prayers are with Dawn, John, and Blake as you say goodbye to Tambra.

She was loved by all that she knew.

“ Tambra and I were coworkers - eventually, friends. I always kept in touch with her, even when I moved away from Florida. Throughout her illness, I saw her handle with grace and immense strength the struggle that she had to endure. She still knew how to make you laugh, to make fun of herself, or find some other random, odd topic to talk about. She hid the true depth of her pain from me, but I always knew the truth from Dawn, her mother. Below is a post I made on my Facebook page, trying to get a grip on the news of her passing. She is missed, will be missed for a long time to come and I know she is looking down upon us, waiting for us to say/do something silly so she can smirk at us from the heavens.

"I'm reminiscing about all the conversations we had about comic con, tv shows, boys, the pictures of you always smiling next to your favorite tv show character at those many conventions you attended, even after you got sick, and your love of Will Smith...oh your love of Will Smith, which we all thought was so hilariously adorable...T, you were taken from this world too soon. My heart weighs heavy for you, for your mother. You will be missed. I hope you're at the best ever convention in the sky. Gone too soon...RIP T."

“ Dawn, John and Blake,
I am so proud to have known Tambra and thank you for sharing her life with me. I have fond memories of times we shared, birthdays and lunches and talks. Tambra was a very courageous young woman, more so than I could ever be. I will miss her dearly. Although her body is not on this earth, rest assured her soul is at peace with our Heavenly Father. I pray God gives each of you strength and peace.

“ Tambra I loved the way you had such enthusiasm for television shows, movies, actors, and of course DragonCon. I would often share in your enthusiasm, even though many times I had no clue who or what you were talking about so you would have to explain it to me. You had so many interests and such a zest for life.
My heart is filled with sadness to lose my brave and courageous niece at such a young age. You are at peace now and free from pain. I can take some comfort in knowing that. You are an inspiration to so many and will never be forgotten. RIP Tambra!
