“ I am so sad to hear of Chip's passing. He was a true son of his Scottish heritage and taught thousands of people of the values of Scottish culture and athletics. I appreciated the opportunity to take my son yearly to the Orlando Scottish Highland Games and Chip was an instrumental part of that event. In honor of Chip's contribution to supporting Scottish heritage and the importance to our Scottish family, we intend to donate to his daughter's college fund. Our thoughts and prayers to his wife and daughter, whom he loved and spoke often.

“ My deepest condolences for Chip's family. I just only recently met with Chip back in June. He was a very intelligent and interesting person to talk to. The moment you had your first conversation with him you became friends. A man who knew no stranger to him. He was a very genuine kind man. I had only wished I could have shared more conversations with him. Ride high in the sky dear friend. Bless your family that you leave behind but never their side.

“ I’m so sorry for your loss. Chip was really one of the nicest guys I’ve known, and although we didn’t see each other often we always had big smiles when we did.

I was a big fan of Chip when he played at Boone (I was at WP a couple years after Chip) and we played some pickup games after we both had gotten old and slow. Again, always a class act on the court and off.

When I became an attorney I was happy to see Chip was working with attorneys and I used his services often as a process server.

The past 5-7 years I would see Chip at his daughter’s games (Howard MS?) or at random HS games.

I was shocked to hear the news about Chip a couple days ago and my heart goes out to his family. God bless you all. You had a good, good man.

“Fantastic human. Always looked forward to this time of year to start designing the t-shirts for the games. All of his nonchalant way of thinking silly thoughts of what he'd like to do. Conversations about life and philosophy. Always rubbing it in about the weather in Florida while I was freezing and looking at the foot of snow on the ground in Michigan. We had many of the same ideas about life in general and would talk for quite awhile about it. He was truly a good human being and I will forever miss those conversations of life, love, and happiness. He never had a cross word about anyone...some thoughts of annoyance...lol but he knew the nature of people and let it be. So I say goodbye to one of the good ones and someone I would gladly call a friend. As long as we keep the thought and memories in our hearts the lowland warrior poet will never be gone.

“My wife Susan and I looked forward to meeting with Chip every year at the Stone Mountain Highland Games, and in 2016 were privileged to attend Chip's own Central Florida Scottish Highland Games. We spent a few precious minutes with him at Stone Mountain last month. We are comforted by the fact that he is walking with his Savior now. We will miss him along with all his family and friends.
